Non-MIT Participant

COURSE NUMBER 6.111	COURSE TITLE Introductory Digital Systems Laboratory
AUTHOR NAME Thomas H.P. Andersen		AUTHOR TITLE

I understand and agree to the following:

1. GRANT OF LICENSE: For good and valuable consideration, the receipt of which I hereby acknowledge, I (the "Author(s)") grant to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology ("MIT") a perpetual, royalty free, non-exclusive license to use, reproduce, and distribute and permit others to copy, translate, modify, and further distribute via the OpenCourseWare ("OCW") Web site and in any other media now known or hereafter developed the materials provided by me to the OCW program (the "Materials").

2. OCW USE: I understand and acknowledge that through the OCW program the Materials will be available to third parties who will be granted a perpetual, royalty free, non-exclusive license to use, reproduce, distribute, translate and modify the Materials for educational, noncommercial, and non-monetary gain.

3. ACCURACY OF MATERIALS: I acknowledge that I am solely responsible for the correctness of my Materials, their adherence to high academic standards, and their accurate reflection of the content and pedagogy of the course.

4. ATTRIBUTION: Unless I decline below to have my name associated with the Materials, MIT will require all users of OCW to attribute any use of any of the Materials in a form that will include my name, my title or status, my organizational affiliation, the year the Materials were created (as indicated on the Materials), and any copyright information (as indicated on the Materials). MIT agrees that it will not post my telephone number, email address or any other contact information, and will post only OCW contact information.

I  choose /  decline to have my name associated with my materials on OCW.

5. STATUS OF COPYRIGHT: MIT acknowledges that nothing in this license will constitute a transfer or assignment of the copyright in the Materials to MIT. MIT further acknowledges that I will continue to own any copyright that I currently hold in any of the Materials.

6. AUTHORITY AND THIRD-PARTY PERMISSIONS: I represent that, except where the Materials indicate otherwise, I am the owner of the copyright or other property right in the Materials and that I have authority to grant this license. I further represent that I have identified and/or labeled all parts, items, and materials incorporated into the Materials that may be subject to a copyright or other proprietary right held by a third party. Where multiple contributors have added materials through multiple offerings of the course over time, I have identified those contributors, where known. I understand that MIT will attempt to obtain any required permission or copyright clearances necessary for publication of the Material on OCW and that I am not obligated to do so. If any of the Materials is based upon work that I completed from a grant or agreement sponsored by a third party, other than MIT, I represent and warrant that I have fulfilled any right of review or other obligations required by such contract or agreement. My agreements and representations in this Agreement are consistent with my obligations to my employer or institution and will not violate any agreement to which I am a party, or any of my employer's or institution's policies, including its policy regarding ownership of intellectual property.

Important: Unauthorized use of third-party copyrighted work is illegal, unethical, raises significant financial liability, and damages the reputation of MIT and its faculty. Contributors must exercise scrupulous care to identify the source of every third-party owned element in the Materials.

I have voluntarily chosen to participate in the MIT OCW program. The rights and obligations of this license shall be binding upon my heirs and successors in interest. This Agreement shall be construed, governed, interpreted and applied in accordance with the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, without regard to conflict of law principles.
