Dear members of the GNOME board,

The university of Strasbourg is one of most important contributors to the development and the promotion of the digital culture in Alsace. As such, we are aware of all the innovations made by the GNOME project in the unix user experience. We also have numerous examples of the use of GTK in our labs and research projects.

As we're very motivated to host the european conference of the world leader of unix desktop environment, we will do our best to help gnome-fr organize it. The university of Strasbourg will provide them with

- * free hosting of the conferences (it means access to the Atrium and its logistics, please note the staff will be at your charge).
- * free dedicated man-week to coordinate and assist you during the setup and the conference.
- * free access to our official communication channels. All the material is provided by your teams.
- * free access to our network infrastructure during the conference.
- * 10 free car parks in front of the Atrium during the conference.

This is not an exhaustive list and every request will be welcome and taken into consideration.
